

Hot and cold colours

Layers of different shades of colour – tissue, paint, pens etc, overlaid with flowers of another set of colours.

Use white crayon on paper to draw a snowflake and then use a watery blue paint to create a 'wash' over the top.

Frozen Blow Painting

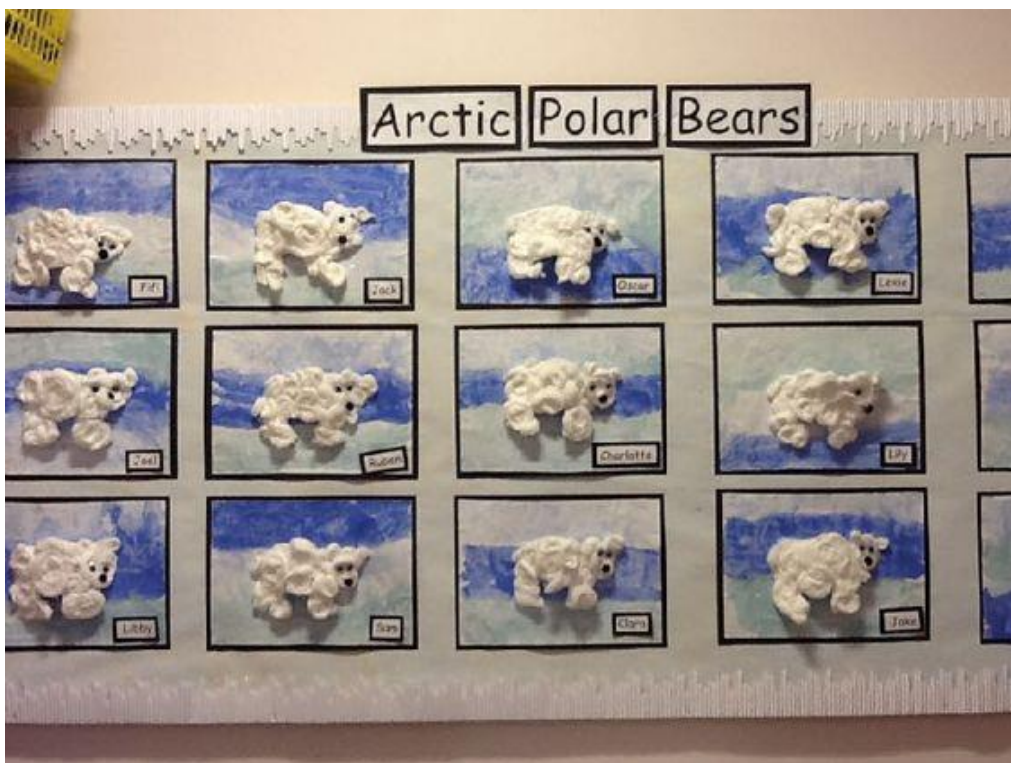

YourTherapySource

Place blobs of paint on your paper and then use a straw to blow the paint across the page.

Collages created from pieces of scrap paper – tissue, magazines, cellophane etc – to build up a colour palette.

a background created by 'washing' the colour on the paper with watery paint and then create a cotton wool bear.
